A CITY WITH A HISTORY.

Some of the Numerous Points of Interest in And Around Richmond.

Richmond, Va., March 3.—The lover of history could spend months in and around Richmond and each day see something of interest. In fact few cities possess the historical interest and none excel her in points made famous by the late civil war. Surrounded by battlefields, lines of earthwork, for defense and cemeteries, wherein lie thousands of the blue and the gray, the thought of war is kept green in one's memory, and although a quarter of a century has elapsed since the roar of cannon ceased, there are people who yet grieve over the loss of dear ones and who will continue as long as the sad recollection is brought daily to them.

The great battle of Seven Pines was fought near the city, as was the Mechanicsville, the Cold Harbor, the Gaines' Mill, the Frazier's Farm and many others in which the number of killed is estimated at nearly 100,000. Some fearful conflicts occurred, as the number of dead indicates, and it was during the first named that Gen. Joseph E. Johnston was seriously wounded. It is claimed that in one of the engagements at Cold Harbor Gen. Lee's army killed 15,000 of Gen. Grant's men in a half hour's fight with a very small loss of life to his own army, and that his generalship on that occasion was extravagantly admired even by the opposing generals and soldiers.

Besides Hollywood Cemetery, of which I have previously spoken, there is a national burying ground and Oakwood, another large cemetery, where thousands after thousands of soldiers unknown but loved, sleep the sleep of death. The Federal soldiers are of course buried in the national cemetery, and as Uncle Sam makes appropriations for the care and management of it, no pains nor money is spared in keeping it in good condition. A head stone marks each grave and the United States flag "floats in the breeze" over it the year round. The graves of the poor Confederates only receive attention from lovers of the Lost Cause and the consequence is they are not kept in as good order as those of their brothers who were more successful in the conflict.

In the line of churches, Richmond is extremely fortunate. Handsome edifices and many of them with steeples towering into the clouds, impress the stranger that this people are not forgetful of the welfare of their souls and are preparing for a happy hereafter. The history I spoke of in the beginning even goes into them and as one sits and hears the gospel expounded in some of them, he occupies a portion of ground as historical as could well be found. For instance, the Monumental church (Episcopal) marks the spot where the old Richmond Theatre stood, which was burned in December, 1811, stood. "The Bleeding Nun" was being produced and Gov. G. W. Smith and 50 others perished in the flames. The urn-shaped crypt in the portico of the church contains the names and a portion of the ashes of the victims. In speaking of the distance of the Monumental church is the First African church, the oldest organization as well as the very largest in the point of membership in the land, of that race. The celebrated John Jasper, who persisted and preached that the "Sun do Move," was pastor at one time and it was then that he became so well known. The old St. John's church is still in good preservation and bids fair to furnish a worshiping place for many years to come. It was built in 1740 and is consequently over 150 years old. Although neither a commodious nor handsome structure, it is more modern than one would suppose would have been built in that early day. It was in this church that Patrick Henry in 1775 gave utterance to the expression, "Give me liberty or give me death," before the Virginia convention, and which sounded the key note of the Revolution.

The Soldiers' Home, in the suburbs of the city, is an enterprise that is commendable in the extreme. It is a commodious building and the decrepit Confederate soldier, who is not able to support himself, can spend his declining years in comfort and ease there. This home was built by private subscriptions and is kept up in the same way. It is a pretty sad sight to look on the lame and halt there, who to-day might have been the progressive men of the age had not it been for the love for their country; but it is some consolation to the Southerner to know that the old soldiers have a home now and bright prospects for a happy one in the hereafter.

I had the pleasure this morning of a visit to the studio of the great sculptor, Edward V. Valentine. Mr. Valentine ranks by far higher than any sculptor on this continent and his works are the wonder of the country over. 'Twas he who modeled the bronze statue of Gen. John O. Breckinridge in the Blue-grass capital, Lexington, and it was the same hand that made the model recumbent statue of Gen. R. E. Lee, which is placed over his remains at Lexington, this State, and which is said to be the most perfect piece of workmanship in the country.

At present Mr. Valentine is working on the Homeric group of Andromache and Astyanax. He claims that this will be the grandest of his many grand works of art and the public is anxiously awaiting his completion of it. He has devoted most of his time for the past three years to it and says by giving it his entire attention he can finish it by 1893. His studio is a most interesting one and besides the busts and models of prominent people of the world, it contains a rare collection of curiosities that he has secured from every clime and nation of the globe.

It will surprise some to know what a manufacturing centre Richmond is. She boasts the world in the manufacture of tobacco, cigars and cigarettes, and over 15,000 of her inhabitants are employed in that vocation. The machine shops and foundries give employment to about 1,000, while those engaged in blank books and paper manufacturing run up in the thousands. To make a long story short, Richmond is a progressive city, populated with wide-awake business men, who have made it independent of other cities and to a great extent of the country around, and she now sails over the sea of prosperity with the rapidity and ease of the fast flying Utruria.

E. C. W.

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—James Francis died last night from injuries sustained from a kick in the face by a young horse last Sunday.

—The "Crow Club" met Wednesday night. An elegant supper was served and quite a number of invited guests were on hand.

—Wednesday was what is known among pensioners as "draw day" and nearly all of them in the county were before County Clerk Wherritt fixing up their papers.

—Our superintendent of public roads John L. Anderson, has recently purchased a handsome new desk. He refuses to tell the price paid for the aforesaid desk, but seems to value it very highly.

—We are glad to see Mr. E. Brown out again after a severe attack of influenza. The little daughter of Hon. Richard Warren, who has been quite sick at her aunt's, Miss Jennie Duncan's is very much improved at this writing.

—A new roof will be placed on the Presbyterian church this spring. We understand that the present one has been greatly damaged by boys shooting flint shot at English sparrows, which chance to light on the building. A few cowhairs properly applied to the most appropriate place would, no doubt, put a stop to the thoughtless urchins' destruction of property.

—Commissioner R. A. Burnside has advertised the following tracts of land for sale next court day: 40 acres on Boone's Creek; three tracts on Back Creek, known as the Wheeler land; 16 acres of the Thomas E. Hudson land lying in Lower Garrard; the John Anderson land near Lancaster on the Lexington pike containing about 36 acres; and the Joe Hazelden property in the north west corner of the public square.

—A certain lawyer in our town concluded to economize and ordered a barrel of flour from Cincinnati. In his haste he wrote "send by express." He was somewhat surprised a few evenings ago when Clark Farris backed his stage (which carries express between this place and Danville) up to the door and with the assistance of a few men unloaded the flour. It is said that the amount of the express was in the neighborhood of $5.

—J. T. Eason, mail clerk on the C. S., is spending a few days with his parents here. Bradford Jennings will be one of the clerks in Brann's new dry goods store, which will open up at the old Logan & Brewer stand next week. J. Myers Farrar has returned from a brief visit to Middleboro. Master Commissioner Burnside, Hon. R. H. Tomlinson and Circuit Clerk W. B. Mason attended the circuit court at Danville Monday.

Mrs. Dr. Bush and daughters have returned from an extended trip through the South. W. J. Partain, who recently purchased the Anderson property on Danville street, arrived Wednesday morning.

The man who lives exclusively for self should be allowed to do so without interruption. He should be severely let alone, and shunned as a moral pestilence.

The Duke of Marlborough has written a most excellent article on Kentucky, its farms, stock, &c., which has been published in the Fortnightly Review and reprinted in the Courier-Journal of the 3d inst.

Senator Manderson is said to sport a white stove pipe hat made of bills that once represented the value of $25,000. He is not likely to consent to its use in being passed around in taking up collections, for fear that it might never be returned to adorn his peeled-onion pate.

It is stated that it would require 16 columns of the Courier-Journal to print the talk of the con. con. each day; and as the convention has already been in session 160 days, the proceedings if printed in the C.-J. would fill 2,400 columns of that paper. Life is too short to even think of reading that amount of "eloquence." The remarkable performances of the professional politicians of Kentucky in behalf of their country would not occupy one-tenth of that space.

Gen. Landrum has received a letter from Gen. George W. Morgan, of Mount Vernon, O., suggesting a reunion of the survivors of the 4th division, commanded by him during the year 1862, to be held at Cumberland Gap during the month of September. He says that Gen. Baird, Carter, Lindsey and others have promised to attend. It was from this Gap the Union forces were compelled to retreat upon the invasion of the State by Bragg and Kirby Smith, and forced to make their way through the mountains of Eastern Kentucky, subsisting solely upon paw-paws and bread made of corn grained on the bottoms of their mess-pans. Gen. Halleck called it "the unaccountable evacuation of Cumberland Gap," notwithstanding the fact that the garrison was in a starving condition. An old Garrard county farmer said, in referring to the matter, that he could see no use in watching the gate when the hogs had entered the corn field and were eating up all the corn.

Gov. McCrory has been successful in the passage of his bill for the creation of a court to adjust private land claims in Utah, New Mexico and other territories, composing part of that ceded to the United States by Mexico at the close of the Mexican war. The court will consist of a chief justice and two associate justices, an attorney, clerk and deputy clerk and interpreter, all to be appointed by the president; the court to hold every three months at prominent points in the territories. It is due to the governor to say that he has been watchful over the interests of his constituents without reference to party, and that he has been the author of a number of important bills of a general character that have become laws. His influence as a member of the House has not been confined to his own party.

It has been suggested that the con. con. would have made no serious blunder if it had abolished the circuit court as well as the superior court. It could have required the judge of the county court to possess the same qualifications as those required of circuit judges; vested the county courts with the same jurisdiction conferred on circuit courts; restricting them to four terms a year for the trial of civil cases; keeping them open at all times for the trial of criminal prosecutions, thus enabling offenders to obtain a speedy and impartial trial, and saving the cost of keeping prisoners in jail for six months at a time, for which the people are taxed. By proceeding as in New York, upon information filed with the prosecuting attorney, grand juries could have been dispensed with and thus another useless expense to the State avoided. There are entirely too many courts now and it would be better if the number could be reduced so that the people could understand when and where to obtain their rights under the law.

The prospect of an early adjournment by the con. con. is hailed with delight by the people generally, and many reconcile themselves somewhat to what has been done, and the manner in which it has been accomplished. If it had not been for the timely and persistent criticisms of the press, there is no telling to what extremes of folly the convention would have gone. It was manifest from the beginning that a majority of that body were of the impression that they had assembled in a legislative capacity instead of having been selected to frame a few fundamental provisions affecting the rights of the people. All that was necessary to do was to strike out of the present constitution all references to slavery; provide a speedier and easier mode of changing the same; make better provision for the enforcement of the laws and the attainment of justice in our courts, and a few other changes, all of which could have been accomplished in one month. It would have been to all intents and purposes a new constitution, just the same as though no two words or provisions that were in the present had been inserted in the new. So far as the spread-eagle oratory displayed in the convention is concerned, it is not worth the paper upon which it is printed. The probabilities are that not one in a thousand will either know or care to know anything about what was said by the delegates during this or any other generation. The average sky-skimming orator of this day is fast being supplanted by men of practical common sense, who are capable of doing and saying things worthy of remembrance.

—Ed Jackson, who was arrested in Greenup county a few days ago on suspicion of robbing railroad cars, seems to be a pretty bad egg. He has confessed to killing a man in Logan county, stealing several horses and having four wives living. He also confessed having deserted from the regular army and serving a term in the Ohio penitentiary.

JAMES RIGGS WARREN.

Sketch of a Hale and Hearty Octogenarian.

The above picture, although it doesn't do the old gentleman justice, will be easily recognized as a counterfeit presentation of "Uncle Jimmy" Warren, the youngest old man in the world.

A way back yonder in 1801, Nov. 4th, near Hustonville, in this county, the subject of this sketch, upon whose silvery locks the snows of 87 winters have fallen, first saw the light and entered upon the long and honorable career which is an open chapter to the people of this section. He lived upon the farm until grown and his education was obtained by working in the summer and going to school in the winter. The educational advantages of those early days were very poor, and the curriculum embraced only spelling, reading and arithmetic, such a thing as a dictionary or a geography being almost unknown to their "old field schools," as they were called.

Always an ardent admirer of the women, he began marrying them before he was 21 and has kept it up at intervals ever since, having in his time led three women to the altar. His first wife was Miss M. T. Peyton and six children blessed the union, all of whom have passed over the dark river but Miss Maria Warren and Mrs. Martha Frances Severance. His second marriage was to Miss Susan Smith and it also resulted in six children, of whom Mr. Albert A. Warren and Misses Emma and Ethel Warren survive. His present wife was Miss Maria VanFelt and was the Widow Dawson at the time of their marriage.

"Uncle Jimmy's" life has been quite a varied one. He has followed farming, trading, merchandising and numerous other callings, in addition to filling the office of post-master of Stanford very satisfactorily for 10 years, first by appointment of the post-master general and by Hayes in 1878, the office having arisen to presidential proportions.

Over 56 years ago Mr. Warren united with the Christian Church and ever since he has been a tried, true and uncompromising reformer. He has been a great student of the Bible and when opportunity has offered he has given his views before the congregation with as much earnestness, decency and clearness as many of those who make a business of preaching. He is a man of decided convictions and is ever ready to maintain and defend them.

Originally an Old Line Whig, Mr. Warren became an intensely union man during the war and frequently had to hide out when the rebels were around. He united with the republican party at the close of hostilities and has ever since been a member of it, though he has frequently sunk partisanship and voted for the man he thought the best for the office. His vote for Grover Cleveland in 1888 was the crowning event of a long voting career.

The secret of Uncle Jimmy's long life, if it can be called a secret, is that he has taken good care of himself. He has always been temperate, industrious and regular in his habits, never permitting himself to worry about anything and always maintaining a cheerful and happy demeanor. Like all other true men he loves the women, and when that subject is broached he soon goes as young as he used to be, as his mind reverts to the joys that they have brought into his life. He has done a great deal of good in his time and we haven't a doubt that the joyous words will greet him when he reaches the other shore. "Well done, thou good and faithful servant, enter into the joys of thy Lord."

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—Elder J. G. Livingston will preach at Halls Gap church Sunday next at 11 A. M.

—The Pope celebrated his 80th birthday Monday. Congratulatory telegrams from all parts of the world were sent him.

—This afternoon at 4 o'clock services will be held in the Old Fellows' Hall by Rev. W. Y. Sheppard, of the Episcopal Church.

—A statue of John Wesley, the founder of Methodism, was unveiled in London Monday in honor of the 100th anniversary of his death.

—According to the late census Philadelphia has 616 Sunday-schools, 16,917 officers and teachers and 178,000 scholars. More than one-fifth of the total population is identified with Sunday-schools.

W. P. WALTON.

The Louisville Times' Frankfort correspondent calls attention to the fact that "More than half the officials in the executive buildings are absent these days on electioneering and other business." This is a beautiful state of affairs. The State pays the auditor and his assistants at least $15,000 a year to attend to its business and they neglect it continually. There should be a new deal all around. The offices do not belong to the Frankfort ring and the people do not want one set of men to preempt the auditor's office and hand it down perpetually. A change in that office especially would be promotive of public good and the signs all point to that much needed consummation. Lincoln county presents a candidate for the office, who is honest and capable and who will never permit a breath of scandal to rest on it.

All the appropriation bills were passed before the adjournment of Congress, which leads the Louisville Commercial to remark that the utmost harmony prevailed, when it came to the question of appropriating money. Both Houses held all night sessions and the scenes of revelry enacted there were never surpassed. Mr. McKinley offered the usual resolutions of thanks to the Speaker, but that too had to be forced through under the gag rules, every democrat voting lustily against it. There never was such a session of Congress. As truly said, its legislation has outraged common decency, bankrupted the treasury and robbed the people generally. May the country never look upon its like again.

Gen. Corse was as good a Union soldier as ever drew a sword and a short time before his death Gen. Sherman made a personal appeal to Mr. Harrison to retain him as post-master at Boston, but it was no go. The general is a democrat of purest ray serene and the president has replaced him with a republican pot-house politician named Hart. Gen. Corse was the choice of the people of Boston, but that doesn't count with this administration, which seems to entertain about as much disgust for the public as Vanderbilt did.

The Owensboro Messenger calls on Clay and Clardy to stay at Frankfort and shoot or give up the gun. By their absence Monday, that paper declares that the people lost $1,000, the session of the convention costing that much a day, and their absence breaking a quorum. There ought to be a law against a man running for another office till he is through with the one he has. At least he should not be allowed to draw the public's good money when he deserts his post to go off electioneering.

The Louisville Times states several important facts in the following paragraph: The Force bill is surely and thoroughly dead now, and a large per cent. of the swashbucklers who drove it through the House like a coach and four, are in the grave with it. The little creature in the White House, who bent his Lilliputian energies to bullying and cajoling it through the Senate, will follow two years from this very blessed day.

The Alliance speaker of the Kansas House seems to be a more revolutionary man than Reed. A member suggested that a vote of two-thirds was necessary to reconsider according to a rule adopted. The speaker wanted to reconsider in a petulant manner said: "D—n the rules. I declare the motion carried." This created a sensation and an uproar, but the speaker struck to it and the bill was reconsidered.

The St. Louis paper, which declared that Cleveland's anti-silver letter would result in his losing Missouri, even if he was nominated for president, does not seem to be borne out by public opinion, that is, if the legislators represent that opinion. A poll of the House shows that he is favorite over all combined and that but 11 members were really against him.

The curtain has at last been rung down on the 52d Congress and Reed is nothing more now than a fat and greasy down East Yankee with a great deal of conceit knocked out of him. While he lived he lived in clover, and then he died he died all over. Let the remains be buried beyond the hope of resurrection.

The last issue of the INTERIOR JOURNAL founded up the 19th year of its existence, 16 of which have been under the present management. We will soon be classed among the old editors if time doesn't cease its rapid flight or fortune give us an easier job.

The direct tax bill, which takes over $15,000,000 from the treasury, has been signed by the president. Mr. Cleveland vetoed a similar bill, and—but it is useless to institute comparisons between a statesman and a small-bore politician.

The first trial of the Australian system of voting at Paducah was a complete knock out for the democracy. The fusion ticket was elected by a large majority and the democrats are disgusted with the "secret ballot."

AGREABLE to the request of Emma Abbott, her remains were cremated, the incineration occurring at Pittsburg and requiring two hours. The body was dressed in the singer's favorite costume, a heavy cream satin, with lavender stripes and hand embroidered in gold. It was made by Worth and cost $5,000. The ashes filled a half gallon silver urn and they were taken to New York and deposited in a safety vault until the completion of the Abbott monument at Gloucester, Mass.

FINDING that the mountain would not come to him, Mahomet went to the mountain and that's the way the republican members of the Illinois legislature have decided to do with the three farmer members. They were to vote for Streeter in a body yesterday, which would elect him and end the long struggle. Gen. Palmer goes down, but not because he is not the choice of the people or because his faithful 101 wavered in the least.

The last issue of the Bowling Green Democrat was a complete exemplification of the hustling qualities of the red-headed and happy hearted genius who presides over its destinies, the great and only original, R. E. Morningstar. It was a triple sheet, profusely illustrated and gotten out in honor of the opening of free navigation on Green River. The Evansville, Ind., merchants, who will profit by the opening, were liberally represented in its columns.

The monthly debt statement shows that in these happy times of peace our national indebtedness increased during February $2,994,750. But considering the pension grabs and other reckless appropriations, the wonder is that the increase is not larger. It would have been but for the fact that a little of the surplus left by Grover Cleveland was not entirely expended.

DEATH has been unusually busy among the members of the Congress just closed. During its two years 12 representatives and three senators have gone the way of all flesh. All the senators, Beck, Wilson and Hearst, were democrats and the majority of the representatives were likewise of that party. Randall and Cox being the most prominent.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

It has been settled that the House is to have 100 members and the Senate 30 senatorial terms.

By the action of the convention the votes of 40 representatives will be needed to pass a bill in the lower House of the legislature.

By a vote of 35 to 30 quadrennial sessions of the legislature have been substituted for the present plan. We hope the body will not change its mind on that question at least.

The hostilities manifested against Louisville by the country members of the body is as small as it is foolish. Louisville is our metropolis and is a city of which all of us are justly proud, and the spirit of certain delegates towards her shows the littleness that animates the souls of some men.

The body doesn't seem to know its mind two days in succession. The quadrennial sessions provided for the legislature was reconsidered and the present system retained and the clause prohibiting preachers from becoming legislators stricken out. There is only one thing that can be said in extenuation of such action—smart men change their minds, fools never.

Even with the quorum reduced to 52, the body was unable to do anything Monday, only about 50 of the 100 members being in their seats. The other 50 were off on their own business, drawing pay from the State all the same for work they do not perform. Perhaps they are disgusted with the convention as nearly everybody else is, but if they are they should show it by resigning and not by absenting themselves at the public expense.

The New York Mutual Life Insurance Company will erect a magnificent 6-story stone building in Middlesboro.

In the 51st Congress 14,033 bills were introduced in the House and 5,129 in the Senate. Of these 2,186 became laws.

The Hawaiian cable subsidy job was among the few that were not rushed through during the closing hours of Congress.

Dr. R. J. Matthews, of Horse Creek, Ala., murdered his wife in the presence of their five children. He barely escaped lynching.

It is unlawful in 20 States for cigarettes to be sold to minors, but the boys continue to acquire the nasty and unhealthy habit.

The Powell county jail was burned Sunday night and its two prisoners were barely taken out in time to save them a similar fate.

It is intimated that even the Chinese cannot stand "Granny" Blair and will decline to receive him as minister. Sensible Chinese!

A tramp fatally cut Conductor Toney, of the Cincinnati Southern, when he attempted to put him off. He was arrested and is now in jail at Somerset.

The buncome proposition of an Illinois member to appoint a commission to investigate the alcoholic liquor traffic was defeated just before Congress expired.

A masked robber entered the residence of J. S. Morris, of Kansas City, and tearing a pair of diamond ear rings from the ears of his daughter, made his escape.

Cornwall & Bro., soap and candle manufacturers at Louisville, have assigned. Liabilities $17,000; assets about the same. They had been in business 50 years.

Four hundred and eleven bills for the erection of public buildings were introduced in Congress last session. Of these 93 passed, carrying appropriations of $12,676,630.

There are 332 members of Congress and 380 employees of that body. If the bill to give each member a clerk should become a law the number of employees would be 712.

G. H. Ensel, formerly of Somerset, died last week at his new home in Knoxville. The old time readers of this paper will remember how largely he used to advertise in it.

Mrs. Windom, widow of the secretary, has a pretty snug fortune left her, but the New York bankers, to show their appreciation of favors shown them, are raising a purse of $50,000 for her.

The Lexington Gazette says that Col. John O. Hodges is a sore winner for the nomination for superintendent of public schools and pays him a high compliment which is thoroughly deserved.

The residence of Ex Gov. Oglesby, at Elkhart, Ill., was burned together with his library and many rare books and pictures. Mrs. Oglesby lost her jewels and was herself quite badly burned.

Alien land owners in Kansas are in danger of being dispossessed by legislative enactment. The farmers show a disposition to force them to sell out or suffer an exchequer of their holdings to the State.

A peculiar fatality seems to hang over a saloon at Columbus, Ind. The four men who have owned it in as many years have met violent deaths and the superstitious whisky sippers are afraid to continue the business.

Two weeks ago Charles Timmons and another young man rescued Ida Worthington from drowning in the Ohio at Cairo, Ill. Her life was saved but both her rescuers have died from the effects of the exposure.

The bill passed by the House Monday for the erection of a new mint at Philadelphia, at a cost not to exceed $2,000,000, provides for the sale of the present ground and structure, which, it is said, will realize a million dollars.

Delos Bosworth, aged 74, of Copley, O., murdered his 30-year old son by cutting him on the head with an ax as he slept. He then made an unsuccessful assault on his wife with the same weapon and tried to cut his own throat.

At a negro festival, near Paint Lick, a shooting scrape took place, in which Dick Todd received two bullet wounds from the pistol of an opponent. After he was shot he fell into a grate of red-hot coals and was burned very badly before help could reach him.

MEANS BUSINESS.

Your account is due and ready. Call and settle and oblige A. B. Penny.

PERSONAL POINTS.

Mrs. Dr. S. G. Hocken is very ill of pneumonia. Messrs. Thos. M. Lillard and Evan Waters are both quite ill. Mr. John S. Hocken and Judge W. E. Varney went to Somerset yesterday. Mr. Will Lillard, who has been very low of pneumonia, is improving. Mr. A. B. Penny, of Richmond, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Penny. Mr. Tom Lamey suffered a severe hemorrhage Tuesday and has been very ill. Messrs. L. L. Dawson and G. T. Kelley have been quite sick, but are improving. Miss Belle Miller, who has been very ill of pneumonia, continues in a critical condition. Mr. J. C. Fioresse, master of trains on the K. C. G. & E., spent a couple of days with his wife. Misses Pearl Phillips, of Stanford, and Miss Mary L. Grimes, of Garfield, are with Mrs. S. R. Cook this week. Mr. Sam Cook, living on the Danville pike, celebrated his 51st birthday Wednesday by having 44 of his neighbors eat a big dinner with him. Rev. George Hunt, candidate for superintendent of public instruction, passed up to London yesterday to see the good people, who, we hope, will receive him kindly and send him away rejoicing. Mr. M. F. Brinkley, the Louisville drummer politician, was here Wednesday trying to convince his admirers that Grover Cleveland should not be nominated and that he will be defeated if he is. Frank is a good democrat, but he is barking up the wrong tree this time.

CITY AND VICINITY.

FRESH BUTTER WANTED. R. F. Roub. HIGHEST market price paid for eggs. Joe S. Jones. NORTHERN seed oats for sale. B. K. & W. H. Wearin. My spring anthraxes are arriving. Call and see them. H. C. Ruple. DR. WARREN'S Health Corset $1 at the Cash Bargain Store. Joe S. Jones. 14 pounds granulated sugar for $1. Artnuckle's coffee 25 cents per pound, at the Cash Bargain Store. If you want a carpet this spring you should examine our stock of carpets, matting and rugs. Severance & Son. AFTER receiving Ex-Sheriff Newland's delinquent list, the court offered to sell it to him and a trade was made for $10. THERE are 12 persons in jail, all charged with felonies, save one. Three of them are under sentence of life imprisonment. SALMON STRAK. French boneless sardines, olives, Scotch jam, early timm maple syrup and cranberry peaches, all fresh and nice at Farris & Hardin's. LAST week Mr. Wm. Dangler lost $15 on the street, but the finder, whoever he was, failed to announce the fact. If this should meet his eye he will know to whom it belongs and get it once and give it to him. THE INTERIOR JOURNAL will have no collector on the streets next Monday, county court day. How many will come in and pay their honest dues without being damned for them? We hope a very large number will.

THE Bank of Middleboro has been absorbed by the First National by taking over its deposits and discounts and purchasing its lease, furniture and fixtures. The officers of the new concern are Geo. W. Arthur, president; W. J. Kinnaird, vice-president, and Edward Labboiteaux assistant cashier. The deal makes the consolidated concern an exceedingly strong one.

A cold snap with the mercury down to 25° and below followed the heavy rain of Tuesday and the wind being square from the east it has been exceedingly disagreeable. Job used to fill his b-read basket with that kind of a diet, but if anybody else ever got any good out of an east wind, he hasn't informed an anxious world. Rain, warmer is predicted for to-day.

THE doctors stick it to you whenever they get a chance, but they have to do a great deal of practice for which they never get pay. Mr. E. B. Caldwell, Jr., tells us that he has had in his hands for some time for collection $20,000 worth of accounts belonging to Dr. J. F. Peyton and about $15,000 to Dr. G. W. Branaugh. They run back for a number of years and between $7,000 and $8,000 are all that they will realize on $35,000. The credit system plays smash with all kinds of business and professions and ought to be prohibited by law, if it cannot be stopped in any other way.

You can get 40 cents per pound for your live geese feathers, opposite Postman House. Joe S. Jones.

The county levy at 20 cents is the same as last year, but the poll tax was raised to $1.50, 25 cents more.

Lost.—Several weekago near Strain's tin store, a black sash. Finder will please return to Miss Sue Woods, or E. P. Woods.

Three burrows in town seem to find the business profitable. Each of them has up a notice that it will apply Monday for license for another year.

Mal. W. N. Potts is in back. Gov. McCreary got his claim for $1,431 thro', together with the signature of the president. Hon. M. J. Burton as administrator of Taylor also gets $1,439.

The new Alexander Hotel at 7th and Market, "The de" Alexander proprietor, opened in grand style Monday. It has been renovated and refitted throughout and everything was as new and as neat as a pin. The opening dinner was a real banquet and was enjoyed by a host of the old gentleman's friends.

Wm. Gosh, the youth who was so seriously shot by Constable Alcorn's posse when he resisted arrest, was lodged in jail Wednesday by Sheriff McCreary. He is charged with malicious wounding, resisting officer, disturbing religious worship, &c., as many as seven indictments appearing against him.

The magistrates have no more right to sell the poor-house than they have the jail or court-house without an enabling act, but they can sell first and get the right afterwards as that can easily be obtained from the legislature. The decree for its sale has gone forth and it is to be hoped there will be no hitch in business. The institution is too heavy a drain on the people to continue it longer.

The Danville and Crab Orchard Turnpike Co. tried to enjoin the Stanford & Logan's Creek Company from building a cut off from here to a point beyond Rowland on the grounds that a law prevented the running of parallel roads so close to each other. Judge Morrow refused the injunction and the court of appeals has just affirmed his action. The directors will now begin work in earnest and to that end have advertised to let the contract for building the road, bids to be opened March 28.

In a letter enclosing $2, our old friend, Charles R. Bell, Esq., writes from Aberdeen, Wash., that he is greatly pleased with his new home, which is situated at the head of navigation on Grey's Harbor and an average of six ships a week, carrying from 450,000 to 600,000 feet of lumber are loaded there for South American ports. The Northern Pacific has the grade complete to Aberdeen and will put on trains at an early date. Squire Bell thinks that the town has a big future and says his old friends can obtain further information by addressing him.

The concert given by Messrs. T. F. & M. P. Woody and Miss Maggie Woody at the Christian church, Tuesday night, was a musical treat of a rare order. The gentlemen have splendid baritone voices and Miss Woody's contralto is very pleasing and sweet. A convention was organized, with some 30-odd members, which have since increased to about 50. The gentlemen give them two musical lectures a day for five days and furnish a music book, all for $1.50 a pupil. They seem to thoroughly understand their business and the pupils are making fine progress. The convention will close with a chorus concert, next Monday night, in which the class will take part. It will prove highly entertaining and the house will no doubt be filled. Doors open at 7 p. m.; concert begins at 7.45. Admission 25 cents.

LODGED HIM IN JAIL.—Wednesday, County Attorney J. B. Paxton was dispatched for by Police Judge A. M. Egbert to come to Crab Orchard to prosecute a man for robbery. He went up and found four men under arrest—David Carpenter, Clarence Hardin and Stamper Jones, white, and Tim Buchanan, colored. The white men were charged with disorderly and drunken conduct and the negro with robbery. The proceedings in the first offense being in the name of the town, that was turned over to the proper authorities and Tim was put on trial. He was accused of robbing Carpenter of $12 and on it he was held to the circuit court, notwithstanding he defended himself in an earnest and eloquent speech. He was unable to give bail and Mr. Paxton acted as sheriff and brought him to jail unassisted. It was proved that the white men went to the negro's house drunk and after making him boil some eggs for them, which they ate, fell asleep. It was then that, as he alleges, Carpenter was relieved of his lucre, which it seems he ought to have forfeited for being in such a condition and in such a crowd.

The Central Kentucky Hedge Co., with a capital of $50,000, has been organized at Lancaster. It will embrace in counties including Lincoln. W. A. Anderson will be president; W. H. Kinard, treasurer, and T. J. B. Turner, general manager.

THEY ACCEPT THE APPEAL.—Our Mt. Vernon correspondent writes that he is too sick to send a letter and adds: The explanation given by the Lancaster people puts a different coloring to the matter and our people generally accept their explanation, I believe, in good faith.

THE trial of the two negroes for the murder of Marshal Wells was still in progress at Danville when we went to press last evening and the opinion seemed to prevail that there would be a hung jury. Col. J. W. Yerkes' speech for the prosecution is said to have been a master effort.

It was the old propound of the Stanford Journal, who referred to Richmond as an "inconsequential town." A revision of remarks is now in order, since they didn't get no public buildin' no-how down there—not even a goldbrick.—Richmond Climax. Yes, but we have, according to Porter, 5,117 population, which lays over Richmond all hollow and if Gov. McCreary doesn't get us a public building we will kill the one of his long and lank editors who dares speak of us so scornfully.

AMONG those who have sent answers to the John Farris puzzle are T. T. Wallace, Mt. Vernon, Miss Malysia Adams, Rowland, Howard Bruce, Stanford, and S. L. Bastin, Pittsburg. Of course none of them are right. The thing can't be done. LATIN. The following have also attempted the impossible: Mrs. H. F. Newland, Crab Orchard, Mrs. C. A. Cox, Stanford, John Stoddard, Danville, J. A. Chadwick, Crab Orchard, J. T. Slaughter, Crab Orchard, George Francis, Pittsburg, Sam White, Crab Orchard, and J. D. Swan, Somerset. Mr. Farris has already hallooed "enough" and will publish a "word" in our next issue.

THE Court of Levy concluded its labors Tuesday. The number of delinquent poll taxes allowed Sheriff Newland was 448, which is the smallest for years. In addition to this, however, there were 133 persons found to be exempt from poll tax and 28 women and firms erroneously charged with it. The ex-sheriff was also allowed to return as delinquent the tax on $85,623 of property, much of which does not exist, having been wrongly assessed. County Attorney J. B. Paxton was appointed to settle with Mr. Newland and that duty was promptly performed. On motion of Squire Seargeant the pay for tennis and plows on the county roads was reduced from $2.50 to $1.75, ten full hours to constitute a day, the number of hours to be reported by the surveyor. The same gentleman also had adopted a resolution requesting the county attorney to get an act passed "to keep as out of the turnpike matter and stop gaps and holes," by permitting a tax to be levied not to exceed 20 cents on the $100. From a report of the liabilities and resources of the county presented by Attorney Paxton, it was seen that $18,778.01 had to be raised to pay current expenses, interest on bonds, &c., and a levy of 20 cents on the $100 and a poll tax of $1.50 were ordered, 5 per cent. of which is to be applied to ordinary purposes, 7 1/2 to improvements to court house and jail, record boxes, &c., and 7 1/2 to pay interest and go to sinking fund for the payment of bonds.

On motion of Squire J. H. Chappell, who made an earnest speech, fortified by facts and statistics from other counties, an order was made with but one negative vote, appointing the judge, attorney and clerk a committee to sell the poor-house property if they can before September, if not at public auction on county court day in that month. The squire showed that the institution was an exceedingly costly one, the expenses of running it, aggregating for last year as much as the entire expenses of Rockcastle county. The general sentiment seems to be in favor of selling the establishment and do away with that system of providing for paupers entirely and in the interest of economy, as well as for other reasons, we hope it will be done. The paupers and the county roads seem destined to bankrupt the county. On motion, it was ordered that after the expiration of Mr. A. R. Penny's time, March 1, 1892, the county court will let the contract to attend to and keep in repair the city clock to the lowest bidder, and the court adjourned.

More than 150 answers have already been sent in to the scriptural puzzle prepared by Mr. John Bright and the contest does not close till the 15th. Several who claim that they either lost the paper containing the puzzle or mislaid that issue have requested us to reproduce it, but we cannot do it. Once is as often as we can publish anything but a paid advertisement. Here are the names of those who have answered since last issue:

Mrs. J. M. Coakley, Campbellsville. Mrs. G. A. Lackey, Stanford. Mrs. J. W. Bibb, McKinney. Miss Cynthia Beck, Stanford. J. W. Bibb, McKinney. C. L. Hall, Somerset. Misses Linnie and Cora Smith, Monticello. H. Willoughby Inman, Somerset. H. S. and E. Porch Hall, Somerset.

W. H. Cocks, Mt. Vernon. Mrs. Sallie Smith, Crab Orchard. Leslie Dawson, Ash Grove, Mo. Mrs. G. B. Barnett, Hubble. Arthur Barnett, Hubble. Miss Virginia A. Barnes, Rowland. T. M. Edlow, Crab Orchard.

Successful Trainer. A B H Himes, of Danville, who had such success the past summer in the Blue Grass Stakes with Evangeline, Minnie, Hattie McGregor and other, writes: "I have used Quinn's Ointment for some time and think it superior to all others; for Dog Spavins and Cuts it has no equal." Try it.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS. To Let, Two Miles of Turnpike.

Bids will be received till Saturday, March 8th, for the grading, masonry, bridging and MacAdamizing of the Stanford and Logans Creek Turnpike, about two miles in length. Call at D. W. Vandever's and examine profile, specifications, &c.

To Contractors. Sublet bids will be received for the erection of a School House in white school District No. 2, 2 1/2 miles north of Stanford, until March 7, 1891, at 2 o'clock p. m. For plans and specifications, apply at the office of the County Superintendent at Stanford. We reserve the right to accept any bid given or reject all bids at same.
